

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL
sixteen st., between Third and Fourth Streets.
Editor, HUNTER L. LEONARD; Osborne.
FRANKFORT JOURNAL, Advanced, $100 per year.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION BY MAIL
Country Daily (half sheet) per year.....$10.00
Country Daily (half sheet) per month.....6.00
Tri-Weekly (quarter sheet) per month.....6.00
Weekly (one sheet) per month.....5.00
Weekly per year in clubs of five, each.....2.00
All clubs of ten or more receive a reduction of one cent per copy for each additional club of five, and half the above rates.
TERMS OF ADVERTISING
One Square in Large Letters, $100. DAILY:
3d or 5d page, 1st or 4th page, $100.
2 insertions, 1.60 3 months, 15.00 2 months, 12.00
4 insertions, 1.50 6 months, 20.00 8 months, 18.00
5 insertions, 1.75 12 months, 30.00 12 months, 30.00
Each additional square one-half the above rates.

GEO. D. PRENTICE, Editor.
PAUL R. SHIDLER, Local Editor & Reporter.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1863.

The telegraph has announced that three of our river steamers were attacked on Tuesday by Wheeler's rebel cavalry, with a battery, at Harpelle Shoals on the Cumberland; that one of the three, with two hundred sick and wounded, was fired into, and that her men were captured and paroled; that the two others, laden with commissary stores, were burned; and that the gunboat Sidel engaged the rebels but was captured and destroyed, her commander being taken prisoner.

All this seems very creditable. If our arrangements were such or our want of arrangements was such that Wheeler's Cavalry could get with their artillery to that critical pass in the Cumberland River, surely ample provision should have been made to guard our boats at that point. The Sidel was a most inconsiderate affair to act as a gun-boat. She was partially covered with an iron sheathing about half an inch thick intended only to protect her gunners from rifle bullets. Of course nothing was to be expected but that the rebel artillery even of the smallest calibre would bore her through and through at every fire. Her capture, attacked as she was, was inevitable. Six or seven of our boats have now been taken on the Cumberland, and others may be taken before preparations will be made to prevent such a result. Provisions for the army cannot at present be transported from this city by railroad, and it they cannot go up the Cumberland without meeting destruction at the hands of prowling rebels, no doubt they had better, until safe transportation on the Cumberland can be furnished, be sent by water to Bowling Green and thence by rail, provided there can be an adequate protection on the river-route to Bowling Green and the land-route the rest of the way to Nashville.

In our opinion, the best security against these frequent and destructive dashes of the rebel cavalry would be found in the counter dashes of the Federal cavalry if we only had a competent cavalry force ready and qualified for such enterprises. But, with a very few brilliant exceptions, the inactivity of the Federal cavalry has been a scandal to the Federal service. Their movements have not been worth half the sum paid by the Government for the horses they ride.

THE SOUTHERN MAIL.—We doubt whether the Post-office Department understands how deeply this whole section of country and the whole loyal region south of it are suffering from the breaking up, through a disagreement between the Government and the Nashville Railroad Company, of all mail transportation upon the routes hitherto accommodated by the Company. Hundreds of cross-roads have of course been accustomed always to receive their entire mails from the railroad and branches, so that the discontinuance of mail-carrying upon that great thoroughfare leaves the loyal portion of Tennessee and nearly one-half of Kentucky entirely mail-matless.

General Rosecrans, it is true, has said that military letters, &c., must be carried by the railroad; but, in the first place, he can offer no compensation whatever to the Company for the work; in the second place, it would be a shame that the Government, through its military power, should undertake to compel a Company to carry a certain class of letters either without or with compensation; in the third place, the Louisville postmaster can bear witness that it would be utterly impossible for him, with any available clerical force at his command, to separate the military mail matter from other mail matter; and, in the fourth place, it would be a grievous hardship, even if the matter could be separated, that the military mails should be got through by military compulsion while the whole non-military people throughout a vast territory were left with no mail facilities whatever. We appeal to the authorities at Washington to decide for themselves and for others whether the loyalty of the population of so large a territory to their Government would be likely to be affected favorably by the long continuance of the cruel disadvantages resulting to them from such a condition of things. It is very true that mail privileges are not among the absolute necessities of life, but a great many men, if they could not enjoy them in this country, might think it better to live in some other. We are not undertaking to argue now whether, in the difference between the Department and the Company, the former or the latter was right. But the P. M. General certainly should not have permitted the mail-transportion to be discontinued. He was distinctly and repeatedly informed, that, unless the offer of the Company to do the proposed work for $40,000 should be accepted, they would not carry the mails after the 1st January. If, then, he felt that he ought not to pay the compensation demanded, and if he found himself unable to induce the Company to agree to lower terms, he should assuredly have made other arrangements for the performance of the work of his Department instead of permitting it to go undone after the first of the year to the deep and miserable discomfiture of innumerable people. We think he failed to fulfil his public obligations, and he ought to endeavor to find some means of repairing his grave omission as soon as possible. We earnestly hope he appreciates the great importance of immediate action. Such a great Government as ours should not let it depend upon the term offered by a railroad company whether an immense loyal region of the United States shall have mail privileges or not while the laws of the United States forbid the carrying of mails by private individuals.

The Railroad Company had an unquestionable right to demand the compensation they did, and we cannot say that we think they demanded too much. We have no advice to give as to what they ought to do now, but we shall sincerely rejoice, as the people will, if by compromise or through any other means the mails shall be at once restored. Almost anything would be better for all parties than the present wretched condition of things.

General Rosecrans, in one of his letters from the State Department to Mr. Dayton, our Minister in France, thinks that the United States have a right to expect at least actual neutrality from the foreign governments which have proclaimed it, and that certainly France, while looking to us to mitigate our war in the interest of herself and other friendly nations like herself, could not, without protest, see the same war prosecuted against us by subscription among the merchants of England. This is a home thrust which cannot well be warded off, but still there is hardly a necessity for any excitement about this matter. The Secretary stated the case plainly, broadly, and fairly, when he told Mons. Thouvenel, over the shoulders of Mr. Dayton, that we are strong enough to overcome our domestic enemies with all the aid they can unlawfully obtain abroad, and that we are capable of being generous to any extent that foreign interest, passion, or prejudice shall seek to profit by our national misfortunes. This is all right. Let the Secretary and his Chief stick to this; but in order that they may do so must they drop the negro. We can't hold him in our arms and whip the whole world at the same time. Mr. Seward's prophetic acumen, piercing and practised as it is, must enable him to perceive without difficulty that some things can't be done as well as others.

As day after day and week after week pass, bringing us nearer to the fourth of March and the close of the present radical Congress, and the pulse of the country beats more healthily and its heart throbs more steadily. Since the fourth of July, 1861, when the special session was convened by the President's proclamation, we have had a succession of excitements springing from the reign of unreason and the nitism of its parasites and courtiers, who have bowed to its shrine and superciliously refused to render that respect and deference to the fundamental laws and constitutional requirements of the nation, which are the very essence of public duty and patriotism. The record of this Congress will be a strange jumble of inconsistencies, changes, and wild experiments; its ultra members seem to regard the country as a machine, the tenacity of which must be subjected to proof and trial, and they have therefore been experimenting with it, as Capt. Dahlgren does with his heavy ordnance, trying larger and larger explosive charges to see if they cannot burst it. We think the progress of this reign of unreason culminated last week, during one of the most astonishing debates which ever occurred in the House of Representatives. It sprang accidentally and quite irrelevantly to the subject matter before the House, but that is no unusual thing. "In Committee of the Whole on the Union," where discussion takes place as wide a range as could have been desired by the philosophers and warriors of that new Catorian school who would not be contradicted, the gentleman's remarks are perfectly proper. I do not find fault with them.

Mr. Wadsworth. Let me finish my statement about the condition of affairs in Kentucky. Mr. Stevens. Very well; but I hope the gentleman will be brief.

Mr. Wadsworth. I will not rise to make these remarks, for the sake of the statement I desire to make, but they were provoked from me by the gentleman's question.

Mr. Stevens. The gentleman's remarks are there, and have been used to defend us against rebellion, and will be, if necessary, against abolitionists. A good proclamation will bring a laugh at it. Mr. Lincoln himself has said that he cannot execute the Constitution in law and country, and much less can he enforce that proclamation.

Mr. Stevens. I do not wish to conclude few remarks I have to make.

Mr. Wadsworth. I did not rise to make these remarks, for the sake of the statement I desire to make, but they were provoked from me by the gentleman's question.

Mr. Stevens. The gentleman's remarks are there, and have been used to defend us against rebellion, and will be, if necessary, against abolitionists. A good proclamation will bring a laugh at it. Mr. Lincoln himself has said that he cannot execute the Constitution in law and country, and much less can he enforce that proclamation.

Mr. Wadsworth. Let me finish my statement about the condition of affairs in Kentucky.

Mr. Stevens. Very well; but I hope the gentleman will be brief.

Mr. Wadsworth. I will not rise to make these remarks, for the sake of the statement I desire to make, but they were provoked from me by the gentleman's question.

Mr. Stevens. The gentleman's remarks are there, and have been used to defend us against rebellion, and will be, if necessary, against abolitionists. A good proclamation will bring a laugh at it. Mr. Lincoln himself has said that he cannot execute the Constitution in law and country, and much less can he enforce that proclamation.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

We have devoted so much space to a preliminary review of the debate upon which we commenced to comment, that we must reserve for another day any remarks upon the various questions which were tendered to Mr. Stevens, and his replies stating his position on important questions of policy, which will show that, if he is the reflex of the sentiment of the Republican party, that organization can be raised in warning or her voice can be exerted to arrest terrible catastrophe in the commission of an unquestioned outrage upon the constitutional rights of the citizens of any portion of the Confederacy, she would be received by the people in a hearty verdict, false her duty, and ingrate to her position, were she to permit the wrong without interposing her most solemn exhortations and warnings.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 3 A. M.

DEPARTURE OF TRAINS.
New Albany, and Chillicothe, R.R.
Cleburne Express..... 8:45 A. M.
Louisville Night Express..... 9:30 P. M.
Louisville, Frankfort, and Lexington, R.R.
Accommodation..... 5:50 A. M.
Accommodation..... 3:30 P. M.
Louisville and Nashville Railroad.
Frankfort Express..... 7:00 A. M.
St. Louis Express..... 10:00 P. M.
Cessions of First and Fourth Pages.
Military Directory—General Hospital in Louisville
M. Chas. Among the Financiers—Police Proceedings—
The Snow Storm—Col. Brice's Department—
Another Batch of Prisoners—The Fifteenth Kentucky Cavalry—Foreign Gossip—Paper Stock from the Courts of First and Fourth—
The Bank Statistics—Willie Plaist—Artificial Siamese Twins—The Snow Casts—The Northern
Lynx—The Southern Lynx—The Southern Department—
The Late Colored Church—Impostions in Church—
General Fitz John Porter—Dr. Livingstone—
Warlike Operations in Africa—The Vicksburg—
Affair—Oxford Culture—Annual Report of the
S. Mint—Robberies in the White House—Terrible
Plague—Telegraphic News—Items, &c.

The Snow.—We have rarely had such snows in this latitude as that which commenced falling after the rain of Wednesday, and which continues to descend at the present writing. It has reached a depth of fully eighteen inches, and it is probable that a considerable depth will be added to that which has already fallen. The storm has effectually housed for the time the greater portion of our city's population, and ordinary out-door pursuits have been suspended. Of course the railroads will be blocked to a great extent, and the temporary inconvenience imposed by the storm will be seriously felt. The poor will feel more keenly the deprivations to which their poverty subjects them, and the soldier on picket will sigh for the comforts of home. But the merry music of the sleigh-bells will drown to many the sad wailings of the poor and lull them into forgetfulness of the tribulations of the noble fellows who brave the elements and brunt the storm of battle in our defense.

By the young ladies of the Female High School are heroines. Prof. Chase informs us that sixty-two of his pupils answered to their names at roll-call yesterday morning, in spite of the terrible storm that raged. In recognition of their promptness yesterday the Professor has furloughed the young ladies, and there will be no exercises at the Female High School to-day.

Among those captured on the steamer at Harpeth Shoals were Charley Hurley, of New Albany, and Mr. Cooney, the well-known Portland mate. The New Albany Ledger says that Charley talked the rebels out of their design to burn the boat.

A negro named Henry, who represented himself as the slave of Mr. Terry, of this city, was charged with larceny in Nashville a few days ago, but the charge was dismissed, and the negro sent to the workshop.

Letters for the 28th Kentucky, at Clarksville, Tenn., will be forwarded to the regiment by leaving them for the next three days at J. F. Weller's, Main street, between Third and Fourth.

Two extra locomotives, with snow-plows attached, left this city yesterday afternoon to clear the track of the Louisville and Frankfort and Lexington Railroads.

A semi-annual dividend of five per cent has been declared by the Franklin Insurance Company of this city.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.—The following contracts for army supplies were awarded yesterday by Capt. Symonds:

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SHOULDERS.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co., Louisville, 50,000 lbs, $2.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

FEED, FLOUR, Louisville, 1,500 lbs, $13.75.

J. B. Fenby, St. Louis, 2,000 lbs, $13.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $13.75.

A. S. White & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

P. Peter & Co., Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

A. S. White, & Co., Louisville, 15,000 lbs, $2.75.

BACON SIDES.

F. P. Bell, Louisville, 100,000 lbs, $2.75.

Floyd & Flory, Louisville, 5,250 lbs, $2.75.

J. Peter & Co

